

Cinnamon celebrates with another award!

Situated in the heart of Ferndown, this popular Indian restaurant seats around forty people
The setting is intimate, the décor contemporary and the music traditional

As well as offering a lovely atmosphere in which to eat, the food is now officially recognised for its quality and flavour. A 'mystery' diner from International Cuisine visited unannounced and after enjoying a meal at Cinnamon declared the restaurant as a premier provider of international quality cuisine and service.

Cinnamon's team have always maintained a 'can do' attitude and will create dishes to suit individual tastes, so to have their efforts officially recognised by the International Cuisine Award 2009 is very satisfying.

"We provide great service by great people," says Mo, "and like to serve food that we would enjoy eating ourselves."

To celebrate the award and in the true spirit of the occasion, Cinnamon has introduced a special menu.

It includes Shatkora Staff Curry, King Prawn Sag Salom and Sea Bass Samba Biran, the dishes chosen by the 'mystery' diner plus a few extra specialities. The menu is already attracting the attention of those with a real penchant for Indian food.

The staff curries are highly recommended. These have always been Cinnamon's signature dishes and are so called because they are the type of dishes the staff enjoy, as authentic as an Indian home-cooked meal can be. Spicy and full of flavour, some will surprise with a wonderful tang of citrus fruit.

The accompaniments must not be overlooked, for example the Peshwari roti, a superb unleavened bread containing banana, coconut, ground almonds and cream. Explore the menu to find other unusual offerings.

As well as a comprehensive menu, Cinnamon provides a daily express lunch for those with only a short time to spare. And do check the advert for the mid-week special. This is a 2 for 1 main course Sunday-Thursday, available by advance booking only.

Takeaways are popular and delivery, using a hot box, is free on orders over £12 within a four mile radius. There is 10% discount on all collection takeaways and beverages.

Parties are welcome and you can even book the entire restaurant. With Christmas not far away, this is something that should be booked now. There is a special set Christmas menu, see the advert for details and the restaurant is open on Boxing Day, 6pm-10pm.

Where better to eat than at an award winning restaurant? Cinnamon Indian Restaurant is rightly proud of its achievement. It's no wonder the certificate is framed and hangs proudly on the wall, joining the Chef of the Year 2008 award belonging to the chef, Alum.
